Laing Country Cabins - About Us

Established in 2015, Laing Country Cabins has quickly become one of the UK's leading manufacturers of high-quality timber frame buildings. While our company may be relatively young, our expertise runs deep – as a family business, we bring over 25 years of industry experience to every project we undertake.

We specialise in crafting exceptional camping pods, shepherd's huts, and home offices, alongside a diverse range of other modular timber buildings. Each structure is meticulously designed and built to the highest standards, combining traditional craftsmanship with modern innovation.

Our deep knowledge spans both hospitality and tourism sectors, as well as farm diversification projects. We don't just build structures; we understand your business needs from a first-hand perspective. Whether you're looking to expand your holiday park, diversify your farm income, or create the perfect home office retreat, we're here to help you thrive and succeed.

At Laing Country Cabins, we're not just building structures – we're building your future success, one quality timber frame at a time.

Many holiday parks and farms are expanding into low-maintenance, self-catering accommodation – and timber camping pods are the ideal solution. Our Classic Range is a smart, low-maintenance investment designed for long-term returns. With consistent demand, our classic Eden Pod can achieve full payback in under two years. Our pods are easy to install, come fully furnished and can begin generating income from day one.

Timber pods are a popular choice for a wide range of guests, from walkers and cyclists to anglers and nature lovers. Their charm, comfort, and simplicity make them a standout option for those seeking a unique outdoor experience.

Built for comfort and longevity, our Classic Camping Pods are crafted from premium timber and durable steel roofing. Fully insulated and weather-resistant, they provide a warm, dry, and welcoming space all year round—no matter the conditions outside.

Every one of our pods is made to order—no two builds are exactly the same. While all of our designs offer luxurious living as standard, each pod can be customised to meet your exact requirements. We work closely with you to ensure your finished pod matches your vision and exceeds your expectations.
